

CH-F surpasses $1.5M Capital Campaign goal

A journey that started last year to raise money for Community Hospital-Fairfax's new facility has surpassed its goal of raising $1.5 million.

On June 30, 2009, in front of a crowd of hospital employees and supporters, Community Hospital Board of Directors President Beverly White announced that the capital campaign Investing In Our Healthy Future has raised $1,518,433.39.

The fundraising initiative was introduced by a steering committee just over a year ago in May 2008. Since its start, the capital campaign has received immense support from its committee members and the community.

"We have 167 individuals, businesses and foundations that have pledged to our campaign, over 100 contributors to our 5K Fun Walk event and 100 per cent of our employees who have also contributed generously to this campaign. We will all have great health care right here at home because of you," Myra Evans, CEO, told the crowd.

The steering committee members were recognized at the ceremony, as well as key supports of the campaign and Congressman Sam Graves, who was instrumental in helping the hospital receive a congressional appropriation for $337,000.

Caption: A group of the Capital Campaign Steering Committee Members hold the plaques they were presented with at the June 30th celebration of the capital campaign. Front row: Mike Holley, Robert Lee Stanton, Doris Ann Stanton, Nancy Hurst, ??, Jane Thompson and Luther Thompson. Back row: Melvin Rogers, Bob Jackson and Bill Slaughter.